WIRELESS—How You Communicate

Imagine your desk, your conference table and even your living room completely free from the clutter of cables.

VersaPoint Communicator puts the computer at your command without wires and without worries.

Communicator provides the wireless freedom you need. Work collaboratively and pass your keyboard around a conference room with 30' RF range. Switch from writing a presentation to delivering a presentation just by picking up the remote; the single receiver makes it possible. Kick back in the comfort of your office and let your tools come to you; with multimedia and internet keys your computer has never been so accessible.

Plug in the USB receiver, and within seconds you are pointing, typing and presenting, all without additional software. Free up your communication with VersaPoint Communicator.
